

How was the problem solved?

Who were the characters in the story?

Where did the story take place?

If you could change one part of the story, what would it be?

