

Speech Time Reminders

I teach a 1st through 3rd grade special education resource room and have several students who go to speech. I made cards with BOARDMAKER for the times each student goes to speech. After laminating them, I added the clock hands with a permanent marker and taped them to the students' desks. The students can match the clock with the clock in the room and know when it is time to go to speech. Since the card is laminated, the writing can be removed and changed in case of a schedule change, or to reuse next year.
